Yanar içim ...

I have come to see those eyes that burn a soul

I have come to bloom like a flower with your words that are water of life* to me

I am helpless and incomplete; I have come to you to be completed

Like excited nightingales, I have come to sit on the flower branch

My heart is burning; there is nothing beyond you

My words are burning; I can't look at your eyes

Not having any fortune other than my life,

I have come to leave behind my life

Accept it, what can possibly go wrong? My Sultan ! I have come to burn with your love

Accept it, what can possibly go wrong? My Sultan ! I have come to burn with your love

I have come to be the center of mountains, stones and soil

Being a poor without love, I have come to discover myself

Being the one who tends to lie, I have come to witness the truth

After living like a dead, I have come to be born again in your heart

My heart is burning; there is nothing beyond you

My words are burning; I can't look at your eyes

Not having any fortune other than my life,

I have come to leave behind my life

Accept it, what can possibly go wrong? My Sultan ! I have come to burn with your love

Accept it, what can possibly go wrong? My Sultan ! I have come to burn with your love
